White, Newark Museum Association, 1960      The Modernist Textile Virginia Gardner Troy, 2006 Exploring the role of textile design, textile production, collections of textiles and critical responses to textiles in the period 1890-1940, this book surveys textiles in the modern age.      Toile de Jouy Mélanie Riffel, 2003 In the seventeenth century, printed and painted cottons from India first appeared in France. In reaction to the enormous commercial success of these bright Indian cottons, a French embargo was placed on the importation of foreign textiles. In 1759, this ban was finally lifted and in 1760, the Manufacture Royale de Jouy was founded in Jouy-en-Josas near Paris to produce printed cotton fabrics on French soil that could compete with the popular imported ones. At first, the factory produced polychrome cottons with floral or plant motifs that were intended for clothing. Subsequently, the monochromes appeared, adorned with rural, historical, mythological, narrative and oriental themes. They were used mainly for home furnishings. Within a few years, the factory was the biggest of its kind in Europe and its printed textiles had become widely used in France and abroad. In all, some 30,000 designs were created at Jouy-en-Josas through the years, many of them the work of renowned eighteenth century artists such as Fragonard and Boucher. The authors, both curators at the Musée de la Toile de Jouy, have drawn upon the museum's rich collections to produce the first ever complete history of these textiles. The illustrations include original designs that are conserved in the museum, exceptional historical examples of toile de Jouy clothing and furniture, documents relating to manufacture and to the founding of the company, and examples of contemporary uses of the textiles Jacket
