organisations national societies and special interest groups within archaeology and contributory disciplines A catalogue of finding aids such as printed bibliographies dictionaries map lists and record office directories A guide to grant sources Lists of archaeological touring guides Bibliography of books offering starting points for almost any topic encountered in archaeology With a full subject and author index to help the reader navigate the information this Handbook is the most comprehensive guide to sources and resources available in British and Irish Archaeology The Development of Neolithic House Societies in Orkney Colin Richards, Richard Jones, 2016-04-30 Considering that Orkney is a group of relatively small islands lying off the northeast coast of the Scottish mainland its wealth of Neolithic archaeology is truly extraordinary An assortment of houses chambered cairns stone circles standing stones and passage graves provides an unusually comprehensive range of archaeological and architectural contexts Yet in the early 1990s there was a noticeable imbalance between 4th and 3rd millennium cal BC evidence with house structures and villages being well represented in the latter but minimally in the former As elsewhere in the British Isles the archaeological visibility of the 4th millennium cal BC in Orkney tends to be dominated by the monumental presence of chambered cairns or tombs In the 1970s Claude Lévi-Strauss conceived of a form of social organization based upon the house societies maisons in order to provide a classification for social groups that appeared not to conform to established anthropological kinship structures In this approach the anchor point is the house understood as a conceptual resource that is a consequence of a strategy of constructing and legitimizing identities under ever shifting social conditions Drawing on the results of an extensive program of fieldwork in the Bay of Firth Mainland Orkney the text explores the idea that the physical appearance of the house is a potent resource for materializing the dichotomous alliance and descent principles apparent in the archaeological evidence for the early and later Neolithic of Orkney It argues that some of the insights made by Lévi-Strauss in his basic formulation of house societies are extremely relevant to interpreting the archaeological evidence and providing the parameters for a social narrative of the material changes occurring in Orkney between the 4th and 2nd millennia cal BC The major excavations undertaken during the Cuween Wideford Landscape Project provided an unprecedented depth and variety of evidence for Neolithic occupation bridging the gap between domestic and ceremonial architecture and form exploring the transition from wood to stone and relationships between the living and the dead and the role of material culture The results are described and discussed in detail here enabling tracing of the development and fragmentation of house societies over a 1500 year period of Northern Isles prehistory Death Rituals and Social Order in the Ancient World Colin Renfrew, Michael J. Boyd, Iain Morley, 2016 This volume with essays by leading archaeologists and prehistorians considers how prehistoric humans attempted to recognise understand and conceptualise death Bibliographie Internationale D'anthropologie Sociale Et Culturelle, 1987 Bibliography of Scotland, 1990 International Bibliography of Historical Sciences, 1984 Creation Research Society Quarterly Creation Research Verzeichnis der exzerpierten Zeitschriften 1926 p XXXI XVII

Book of Bronze Age Britain Michael Parker Pearson,1993 Looks at the 4000 years of British prehistory including an examination of the ways in which we interpret the challenging and tantalizing evidence thrown up from this period and the arguments and theories of archaeologists     Monuments of the British Neolithic Miles Russell,2002     Neolithic Communities of the Channel Islands Mark Patton,1995 This is the first full length study of the prehistoric history of the Channel Islands since 1937 Using modern techniques of anthropological archaeology and theory Patton records in detail the evidence for the Neolithic period 5000 2000 BC and develops a model for socio cultural change in the islands in particular he examines the effects of insularity on their historical and cultural developemnt In six appendices he presents details of the islands flint assemblages stone axes and pottery and an inventory of sites     King Arthur's Place in Prehistory Walter Arthur Cummins,William Arthur Cummins,1997-08 The author traces the legend of King Arthur back to a connection with Stonehenge     Scotland in Ancient Europe Ian Shepherd,Gordon Barclay,2004 And conclusion Roger J Mercer The bronze doors of No 9 Millbank London with a note on the architect and sculptor associated with Imperial Chemical Industries House and their contribution to the heritage Roger J Mercer     Proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland Society of Antiquaries of Scotland,2006 Includes List of members     Food, Culture and Identity in the Neolithic and Early Bronze Age Michael Parker Pearson,2003 Archaeology literally feeds on the residues and discarded remains of our ancestors meals Such material has spawned a vast field of research and scientific techniques looking at prehistoric diet and food so that we can now learn more about the residues found stuck to the bottom of a Bronze Age pot than what is at the bottom of our own freezers     Explaining Social Change Colin Renfrew,John F.
