An International Psychology of Men Chris Blazina,David S. Shen-Miller,2011-01-19 This text is the first to provide a contextual understanding of the clinical issues that affect men and masculinity across a wide range of cultural and national settings It demonstrates that gender can no longer be viewed as an isolated characteristic in an era of increased globalization mental health professionals need to take ethnic and cultural issues into account to provide adequate care for male patients Numerous international perspectives are offered by the contributing authors authorities from countries such as Australia Argentina Denmark Canada India Ireland and South Africa on theoretical and clinical innovations for working with men Their chapters also offer insight into the socio cultural contexts for counseling men in and from their respective countries by exploring the ways in which being a man is socially defined what unique challenges men face and how these challenges can be negotiated within their specific cultural settings Topics addressed will include boyhood notions of manhood relationship concerns and power fatherhood and men s body image across the life span This text will ultimately enable mental health practitioners to have a better understanding of how to work more effectively with male clients Resilience in Childhood Erica Joslyn,2015-12-01 With an emphasis on promoting self reliance autonomy and independence this exciting new book provides a contemporary and holistic analysis of the childhood resilience It recognises resilience in childhood as a complex construct critically deconstructs it by drawing upon a wide range of academic disciplines and practices and provides an account of the factors that help and hinder the development of resilience during childhood and adolescence Part I unpacks definitions of resilience and its construction over the last 50 years Part II examines psychological sociological and neurobiological perspectives that contribute to our understanding of how childhood resilience can be developed and fostered Part III explores strategies and approaches relating theory to current intervention practice and policy drivers Application to professional practice within a multi agency context is explored throughout Importantly this book seeks to develop the notion of the promise of resilience and establish the bond between capabilities built up in childhood and the promise of a positive successful future Efforts to foster and build effective skills that lead to resilience will result in long lasting abilities to positively navigate through life s challenges and to become the key architect of one s own success in later life

Relationship Processes and Resilience in Children with Incarcerated Parents Julie Poehlmann, J. M. Eddy, Patricia J. Bauer, 2013-07-10 Children with incarcerated parents are at risk for a variety of problematic outcomes yet research has rarely examined protective factors or resilience processes that might mitigate such risk in this population In this volume we present findings from five new studies that focus on child or family level resilience processes in children with parents currently or recently incarcerated in jail or prison In the first study empathic responding is examined as a protective factor against aggressive peer relations for 210 elementary school age children of incarcerated parents The second study further examines socially aggressive behaviors with peers with a focus on teasing and bullying in a sample of 61 children of incarcerated mothers Emotion regulation is examined as a possible protective factor The third study contrasts children's placement with maternal grandmothers versus other caregivers in a sample of 138 mothers incarcerated in a medium security state prison The relation between a history of positive attachments between mothers and grandmothers and the current cocaregiving alliance are of particular interest The fourth study examines coparenting communication in depth on the basis of observations of 13 families with young children whose mothers were recently released from jail Finally in the fifth study the proximal impacts of a parent management training intervention on individual functioning and family relationships are investigated in a diverse sample of 359 imprisoned mothers and fathers Taken together these studies further our understanding of resilience processes in children of incarcerated parents and their families and set the groundwork for further research on child development and family resilience within the context of parental involvement in the criminal justice system
